

URGENT ACTION

THREE DETAINED ACTIVISTS FALSELY CHARGED

Three Chadian activists being detained at the Amsinene prison are facing false charges for their role in calling for peaceful protests. They are prisoners of conscience.

Nadjo Kaina Palmer, spokesperson of the citizen movement IYINA ('We are tired' in local Arabic) and Bertrand Sollo, the Francophone National Rapporteur of IYINA were arrested on 6 and 15 April respectively, while Dingamnayal Nely Versinis, president of "Collectif Tchadien Contre la Vie Chère" was arrested on 12 April. All three were arrested by National Security Agency (ANS) agents and were held incommunicado until they were brought to the Judicial Police headquarters in N'Djamena on 24 April. They were interrogated by the judicial police in the absence of their lawyers on the same day. Nadjo Kaina Palmer and Bertrand Sollo were on 26 April charged with attempted conspiracy and calling an unauthorized gathering, while Dingamnayal Nely Versinis was charged with fraud and usage of a false title. Dingamnayal Nely Versinis is ill and his condition is deteriorating since he has not had access to his medication. All three are detained at the Amsinene prison of N'Djamena.

Nadjo Kaina Palmer was arrested after he showed up to see the ANS Director who had summoned him regarding a peaceful demonstration that had been set for 10 April to protest against corruption and impunity. Bertrand Sollo was arrested while on his way to attend a media interview. Dingamnayal Nely Versinis was arrested at the N'Djamena city hall, after being summoned to the venue by city hall officials. His arrest occurred after he called on the traders of the N'Djamena Millet Market to take part in a strike to protest against an increase in the market booth prices.

Amnesty International considers Nadjo Kaina Palmer, Bertrand Sollo and Dingamnayal Nely Versinis to be prisoners of conscience solely detained for peacefully exercising their right to freedom of expression.

Please write immediately in French, Arabic, English or your own language:

- Urging the authorities to immediately and unconditionally release Nadjo Kaina, Bertrand Sollo and Dingamnayal Nely Versinis as they are prisoners of conscience arrested and detained solely for peacefully exercising their right to freedom of expression;
- Urging them to ensure that Nadjo Kaina, Bertrand Sollo and Dingamnayal Nely Versinis are not subjected to torture and other ill-treatment pending their release, and are allowed regular access to their lawyers, to family visits, to medical attention and medication and to all basic necessities;
- Urging the authorities to end all forms of intimidation and harassment, in particular by the ANS, against all other human rights activists and defenders in Chad.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

During a press conference on 3 April, Nadjo Kaina Palmer called on Chadians to observe an "IYINA day" on 10 April, marking the first anniversary since the 2016 presidential election. He encouraged them to dress in red or wear a red scarf on their heads to express their discontent with the government's mismanagement and "say no to bad governance, impunity and humiliation".

Amnesty International contacted the Minister of Justice and Public Prosecutor on 24 April and they confirmed that the three activists had been transferred to the judicial police for investigations. So far no charges have been brought against them and since 24 April, they have been allowed access to their lawyer and families.
