

FUNDRAISING UPDATE

December 2019

This is the last local group fundraising update of the year and so it features an appeal for you to review the balance in your accounts and consider making a donation to Amnesty International UK. We also have news of a fantastic fundraising event and links to this year's local group financial return form.

Local Group Fundraising 2019

Thank you to all local groups who have raised money this year, either to fund their own activities or to support Amnesty International UK. Your efforts have helped fund human rights work both locally and internationally. So far this year, local groups have sent a combined total of just over £90,000.

We recently sent a letter out to all treasurers asking you to review the funds your group is holding and to consider making a donation to Amnesty International UK. If you haven't received this letter, please let us know because we may not have accurate contact details for your group's treasurer.

Local Group Financial Return Forms

You should have all received a financial return form in the letter we recently sent to all treasurers asking for end of year donations. Please do fill this out and return it by 1st March at the latest. These forms help give us an idea of how local groups are doing financially and how we can best support you to raise money to support your own activities and Amnesty International UK.

You can download a copy of this form here.

Alternatively, you can fill out an online version of this form here.

Making a Song and Dance of it

The Cardigan and North Pembrokeshire Amnesty Group recently held their annual live music event 'Making a Song and Dance of it' in Rhosygilwen Mansion in Cardigan. This year's event featured performances from the Hornettes, who performed an array of Motown hits and LUNDY a local four-piece who were playing their own material.

Tickets were £12 in advance and there was a raffle held on the night. The event raised a grand total of £1,890.67 once expenses were taken out.
